

Table of Contents

Introduction	IX
1 Globalization in history	1
The many dimensions of globalization	1
Globalization is nothing new	3
From ancient Rome to modern globalization	4
Ancient Rome: the roads and the state	6
All roads lead to Rome	8
Arab-Islamic expansion: the single market with the glue of religion	9
The camel, evidence of Creation	11
The Mongol Empire: the globalization of the nomadic people	12
The horse, secret weapon of the Mongols	15
Marco Polo and the Silk Road	16
The great geographical discoveries: the globalization of conquests	17
Compass, cartography, and shipbuilding: technology and science serving globalization	21
The great colonial powers: mercantile globalization	22
Legal and financial innovations boosting globalization	24
Modern globalization: from Cold War to hyperglobalization to slowbalization	27
The container: the low-tech innovation	30
Internet: compression of time and space and centrality of the individual	32
The engines of modern globalization	33
Is globalization unstoppable and irreversible?	35

2	Globalization: promises, excesses, limits, and distortions	37
	The great promises of modern globalization	37
	Global value chains	45
	Excesses, limits, and distortions of globalization	46
	Is it the end of globalization?	71
3	The crisis of globalization: de-globalization or re-globalization?	73
	Globalization loses momentum	73
	The crisis of globalization: the (missed) signs	74
	The crisis of globalization: the slowdown of economic integration	77
	The crisis of globalization: the forces of change	79
	The disconnect	134
4	The great disconnect	137
	How globalization is changing	137
	The new frontiers (or the new fronts)	138
	The great disconnect and the new global balances	145
5	The world to come: possible future scenarios	169
	Strategic rivalry, national security, and decoupling risk	169
	Clash for global hegemony or new cold war?	171
	A fragmented world	173
	The trends of the fragmented world	176
	The “free agent” countries	184
	The world to come: possible future scenarios	196
	References	207
	Acknowledgments	215
	The author	217
	Names index	219