

Table of Contents

Preface, by Ariane Berthoin Antal	IX
Introduction to the international edition	XI
Introduction
The Desire to Discuss Innovation and Method	XIII
Experimentation and replicability	XIV
The refinement of the processes and the involvement of people	XVI
1 An Overview	1
1.1 Why write and read a book on contemporary art, innovation, and business life	1
1.2 What subjects the book addresses and why	4
1.3 Encouraging and problematizing the use of art in companies	8
1.4 The activities of the FEC and their treatment in the book	12
1.5 Methodological note	17
1.6 Glossary of main terms	17
2 Art and Identity: How Art Guides and Innovates Identification Processes to Generate More Effective Behavior	23
2.1 The interaction between art and management: the role of the concept of identity and its relationship with art	23
2.2 Art and identification processes	28
2.3 The concept of personal and professional identity	31
2.4 How art transforms professional identity	34
2.5 The Game – a three-goal soccer game: the artistic intervention as a moment of self-representation and reconstruction of identity	38
2.6 Managerial implications	45

3	Art as a Training Tool: How to Organize a Training Process Based on Contemporary Art to Upgrade Skills and Competences	49
3.1	Why art is not just another metaphor for training, but has value per se	49
3.2	Art, aesthetic knowledge and its advantages	52
3.3	Art, training and learning	58
3.4	VITRIOL: the artistic intervention as an innovative moment of learning	69
3.5	Managerial implications for the design of a training intervention based on art	79
4	Contemporary Art in Process and Product Innovation: From the Concept of “Artifacts” to the Renewal of Company Thinking	83
4.1	Art, knowledge exchange and innovation	83
4.2	Art and its potential for innovation: materiality and artifacts	86
4.3	Art and artifacts, continued: boundary objects, knowledge exchange as a precondition for innovation	89
4.4	From artifacts to organizational spaces	92
4.5	Aspiranti Aspiratori: the artistic intervention as an occasion for process and product innovation	94
4.6	The advantages of adopting the logic of artifacts and spaces	100
4.7	Managerial implications	102
5	Competitive Advantage When Speaking of Art in Companies	105
5.1	Art in companies and its contribution to competitive advantage: the dilemma of measurability	105
5.2	Before competitive advantage: the centrality of people and the community of stakeholders	109
5.3	Competitive advantage: can it be quantified?	112
5.4	Implications for a multi-method approach to understand the benefits of contemporary art in companies	117
6	Artistic Interventions and the Covid-19 Pandemic	121
6.1	Introduction to this new “pandemic” chapter	121
6.2	Arts and business again? Artistic interventions as a platform for the integration of different disciplines	124
6.3	The individuality of people at work: a more “humanized,” emotions-, and aesthetic-based approach	128

6.4 The concept of impact of artistic interventions – the call for a wider audience	133
6.5 Final remarks, limitations, pushing towards new challenges	136
Appendix
Innovating Business with Art
The Fondazione Ermanno Casoli Method	139
Acknowledgements	181
Bibliography	183

3	Art as a Training Tool: How to Organize a Training Process Based on Contemporary Art to Upgrade Skills and Competences	49
3.1	Why art is not just another metaphor for training, but has value per se	49
3.2	Art, aesthetic knowledge and its advantages	52
3.3	Art, training and learning	58
3.4	VITRIOL: the artistic intervention as an innovative moment of learning	69
3.5	Managerial implications for the design of a training intervention based on art	79
4	Contemporary Art in Process and Product Innovation: From the Concept of “Artifacts” to the Renewal of Company Thinking	83
4.1	Art, knowledge exchange and innovation	83
4.2	Art and its potential for innovation: materiality and artifacts	86
4.3	Art and artifacts, continued: boundary objects, knowledge exchange as a precondition for innovation	89
4.4	From artifacts to organizational spaces	92
4.5	Aspiranti Aspiratori: the artistic intervention as an occasion for process and product innovation	94
4.6	The advantages of adopting the logic of artifacts and spaces	100
4.7	Managerial implications	102
5	Competitive Advantage When Speaking of Art in Companies	105
5.1	Art in companies and its contribution to competitive advantage: the dilemma of measurability	105
5.2	Before competitive advantage: the centrality of people and the community of stakeholders	109
5.3	Competitive advantage: can it be quantified?	112
5.4	Implications for a multi-method approach to understand the benefits of contemporary art in companies	117
6	Artistic Interventions and the Covid-19 Pandemic	121
6.1	Introduction to this new “pandemic” chapter	121
6.2	Arts and business again? Artistic interventions as a platform for the integration of different disciplines	124
6.3	The individuality of people at work: a more “humanized,” emotions-, and aesthetic-based approach	128

6.4 The concept of impact of artistic interventions – the call for a wider audience	133
6.5 Final remarks, limitations, pushing towards new challenges	136
Appendix
Innovating Business with Art
The Fondazione Ermanno Casoli Method	139
Acknowledgements	181
Bibliography	183