

Table of Contents

Foreword, by Paolo Gallo	VII
Introduction	1
1 Creating a Team	5
1.1 Team definition	5
1.2 The descriptive elements of the team	8
1.3 Types of teams	17
1.4 Check list: Do you really need a team?	20
2 Structuring a Team	29
2.1 Context	29
2.2 Composition	32
2.3 Structure	35
2.4 Processes	40
2.5 Responsibility and roles	42
2.6 ElectroC: a new collection of electrical components	45
2.7 Assessment/follow up	51
3 Decision Making in the Team	57
3.1 Managing the decision-making process	57
3.2 Decision-making models	59
3.3 Low to moderate team involvement	60
3.4 Toward greater member involvement	64
3.5 The problem of consensus	67
3.6 Improving team decision making	71
3.7 A note to the facilitator	74

4	Managing Conflict in the Team	81
4.1	Conflict as a social process	81
4.2	Causes and crystallization of conflict	82
4.3	The drama triangle: recognizing roles in interpersonal conflict	84
4.4	Breaking the drama triangle	88
4.5	Strategies for managing conflicts over the task	91
4.6	Leader intervention: when and how	95
5	Negotiating among Team Members	103
5.1	The negotiation phases	103
5.2	The negotiation process in the team	104
5.3	A framework of reference	108
5.4	Heterogeneous teams and integrative negotiation	111
5.5	The team as a negotiating partner	114
6	Managing Geographically Dispersed Teams	121
6.1	Benefits and challenges of virtual teams	121
6.2	Life cycle comparison	123
6.3	Addressing and managing different types of virtuality	131
6.4	The challenges of hybrid teams: beyond the pandemic	140
	Bibliography	149