

Table of Contents

Introduction	1
SMART entrepreneurship: Managing the uncertainties and risks associated with starting up a new venture	1
1 Entrepreneurial Management Theory: What the Academics say	3
1 Early conceptualization of entrepreneurial management: Howard Stevenson at Harvard Business School	4
2 Beyond the early conceptualization efforts: Operationalization and empirical evidence	10
3 Managing uncertainty and risk: an integrative approach	14
2 Steps, Methods, Arrangements, Resources & Traits. A SMART Entrepreneurial Approach	19
3 Opportunity Identification	21
1 Opportunities based on macrotrends	21
2 Opportunities based on living the experience	22
3 Opportunities created through scientific discovery	25
4 Opportunities created through market replication	27
5 Innovation approaches to opportunity identification	32
4 Opportunity Evaluation	37
1 Test for clarity	37
2 Test for coherence	40
3 Test for sustainability	43
5 Validation	47
1 The potential client interview	49
2 Lead-user involvement	49

3	Pre-selling the concept (crowd-funding)	50
4	Beta testing and minimal viable products	50
5	Market research and experiments	51
6	Early Stage Resource Acquisition and Marshalling	57
7	Third-Party Financing and Business Planning	59
1	Funding stages	59
2	Business planning: Format structure and style of a business plan	69
3	The pitchdeck and one-page version of the business plan	80
8	Growth & Exit Management	81
9	Practical Arrangements	85
10	The Entrepreneurial Mindset	89
11	Conclusions	95
	Appendix A – Bartlex Pitchdeck	97
	Appendix B – Bartlex One Pager	107
	References	109