

Table of Contents

Introduction	XI
1 Corporate Strategy	1
1.1 From competitive strategy to corporate strategy decisions	1
1.2 Corporate strategy in the literature	2
1.3 Two approaches to corporate strategy	7
1.4 Six portfolio strategy models	8
1.5 Four parenting strategy models	9
1.6 The evaluation of corporate strategy	10
1.7 Strategic management in multibusiness firms	13
2 Portfolio Matrices	15
2.1 A tool for corporate strategy	15
2.2 Mapping businesses on matrices	15
2.2.1 Portfolio analysis according to the business logic	16
2.2.2 Portfolio analysis according to the capital markets logic	18
2.2.3 Portfolio analysis according to the added value logic	19
2.3 Evaluating the portfolio strategy	22
2.4 Evaluating the parenting strategy	25
3 The Integration of Corporate Social Responsibility	27
3.1 From shareholder value to shared value	27
3.2 The influence of the external context on CSR	28
3.3 The different responsibilities of firms	30
3.4 Corporate strategy and CSR: the stages of integration	31
3.4.1 Stage 1: Informal CSR	32
3.4.2 Stage 2: Basic CSR	33
3.4.3 Stage 3: Systematic CSR	33
3.4.4 Stage 4: Innovative CSR	34
3.4.5 Stage 5: Dominant CSR	34
3.4.6 B-Corps: Dominant CSR	35
3.5 Organizational choices regarding CSR	36
3.6 Evaluating CSR projects	37

4	Synergies and Resources	39
4.1	The concept	39
4.2	Financial and operational synergies	40
4.3	Classification of operational synergies	42
4.4	From synergies to corporate valuable resources	45
4.5	Negative synergies	52
5	The Choice of the Core Business	55
5.1	The concept	55
5.2	The historical method	56
5.3	The quantitative method	57
5.4	The qualitative method	58
5.5	How to choose	60
6	Scale and Corporate Scope	63
6.1	The concept	63
6.2	Decisions on growth	64
6.3	Valuing growth decisions	67
6.4	The dilemma of growth	67
6.5	Divestiture decisions	69
7	Growth with a Synergy Approach	73
7.1	The directions of growth	73
7.1.1	Operational reinforcement	74
7.1.2	Related expansion	75
7.1.3	Related exploration	76
7.1.4	The discipline of growth	77
7.2	The motivations for growth	79
7.2.1	Benefitting from efficiency, growth, and market power advantages	79
7.2.2	Exploiting industry dynamics	81
7.2.3	Acquiring businesses undervalued by the market.	82
7.2.4	Increasing the parent's ownership interest in a subsidiary	83
7.3	Growth traps to avoid	83
7.3.1	Diseconomies of scale	84
7.3.2	Loss of flexibility	84
7.3.3	Overestimating synergies, or negative synergies	85
7.3.4	Limited adaptation to differences across countries	86
7.3.5	Limits of vertical integration	87
8	Growth with a Financial Approach	89
8.1	Growth: from a synergy to a financial approach	89
8.2	The motivations for growth	91
8.2.1	Benefitting from financial synergies	91
8.2.2	Exploiting industry dynamics	92

8.2.3	Acquisitions of firms undervalued by the market	93
8.2.4	Increasing the parent's ownership interest	93
8.3	A historical perspective on diversification strategies	93
8.4	Diversification and performance	96
8.5	The conglomerate discount	98
8.6	Good practices for successful growth with a financial approach	100
9	Modes of Growth	103
9.1	The growth tree	103
9.2	Internal development	104
9.3	Alliances	106
9.4	Mergers and acquisitions	109
9.5	Choosing the right mode	110
9.5.1	The buy or build method	110
9.5.2	The build, borrow, or buy method	112
10	Mergers and Acquisitions	115
10.1	Becoming a successful acquirer	115
10.2	M&A waves	116
10.3	M&A performance	118
10.4	Typologies of M&As	119
10.5	The M&A process	122
10.5.1	Phase 1: Identification of target	123
10.5.2	Phase 2: Valuation and negotiation	124
10.5.3	Phase 3: Due diligence and closing	125
10.5.4	Phase 4: Integration	125
10.5.5	Phase 5: Post-deal evaluation	126
10.6	Managing the integration phase	127
10.6.1	Key organizational choices to integrate	128
10.6.2	Integration archetypes	128
10.6.3	Choosing a tailored approach to integration	130
11	Strategic Alliances	133
11.1	Typologies of alliances	133
11.2	The alliance process	136
11.2.1	Phase 1: Selecting a partner (origination)	137
11.2.2	Phase 2: Structuring the alliance	138
11.2.3	Phase 3: Negotiating the agreement	139
11.2.4	Phase 4: Managing the alliance	139
11.2.5	Phase 5: Re-evaluating the alliance	140
11.3	The reasons for failure	141
11.4	The development of an alliance competence	142
12	The Entry in International Markets	145
12.1	Corporate scope and geographic context	145

12.2 Globalization: drivers, opportunities, and threats	145
12.3 The world is not flat	147
12.4 Analyzing differences between countries	149
12.5 The motives for international expansion	150
12.6 The selection of foreign markets	152
12.6.1 The strategic importance of the market	152
12.6.2 The possibility to capitalize on the market's potential	153
12.6.3 A framework for choosing foreign markets	153
12.7 Entry modes	154
13 Ownership and Corporate Governance	159
13.1 The relevance	159
13.2 The variety of ownership structures	160
13.3 The role of ownership in corporate strategy	163
13.4 The centrality of the Board of Directors	167
13.4.1 Composition, structure, and functioning of the BoD	168
13.5 Towards a modern view of corporate governance	172
13.5.1 Strengthening the role of ownership (where it is weak)	172
13.5.2 Strengthening the role of governance bodies (when ownership is strong)	173
13.5.3 Increasing the importance of governance in private companies	174
14 Roles and Functioning of Corporate Headquarters	175
14.1 Multibusiness firms or business groups	175
14.2 The roles of the corporate headquarters	177
14.3 The structure of the corporate headquarters	178
14.4 The value added (or destroyed) by the corporate headquarters	181
14.5 Prototypes of corporate headquarters' influence	184
15 Organizational Macrostructures	187
15.1 Structural options	187
15.2 Evolution of organizational structures (synergy approach)	189
15.3 Evolution of organizational structures (financial approach)	192
15.4 Relationships between the corporate headquarters and business units	193
16 Leadership Models	197
16.1 The need for leadership	197
16.2 Leadership and the role of the CEO	198
16.3 The traits and skills of leaders	200
16.3.1 A traditional interpretation	200
16.3.2 The Sitkin and Lind method	201
16.3.3 The FCA model	202
16.4 The collective nature of leadership	203
16.5 Negative leadership	204

17 Strategic and Organizational Change	207
17.1 The causes of change	207
17.2 The types of change	209
17.3 The process of change	210
17.3.1 Information	211
17.3.2 Decision	212
17.3.3 Action	213
17.3.4 Control	214
17.4 The causes of resistance to change	215
Bibliography	219